GOSSIP OF THE RACETRACK.

DADE SHOWS STANDING START IS THE BEST.

Sockey Club's Policy Now Generally Comnded by Turfmen-Keerner, a Coming Lightweight, to Ride for Harry P. Whitney-Ring Has Another Hard Day.

The starting of A. B. Dade at Brighton Beach yesterday was well nigh perfect. The horses in each event were sent away in perfect alignment from a flatfooted break and the crowd manifested intense satisfaction with the new man's work. Dade has practically demonstrated the wisdom of the Jockey Club in sticking to the standing start. in spite of a clamor in some quarters for the up system as advocated by Mars Cassidy. H. K. Knapp, who is in the stand at the Beach representing the Jockey Club, was chiefly responsible for the abolition of the old recall flag and the institution of the flatfooted along been a strong advocate of the standing start and it is with much satisfaction, no doubt, that he now sees the plan so sucoperated by Dade. Fitzgerald, when handling the gate, gave perfect satisfaction with the standing start, but when Cassidy assumed the duties of the position he seemed unable to produce the same results. Cassidy has been aligning the horses some distance from the barrier, allowing them to walk up to the ribbon, where a temporary balt has been called before the final word to It is maintained that under this arrangement jockeys became nervous and exso that much disorder resulted Under Dade's method the jockeys have toned down so that on Wednesday and yesterinsists upon having the horses line up in post. There must be no twisting or turning. but the boys are compelled to keep their mounts as still as possible until he says the In that way fast breakers do have so great an advantage as under the walk up plan, and in fact all of the horses are able to get away practically on even terms. If a horse is a slow breaker he does not lose too much ground at the outset and has a chance to make up an advantage secured by some other rival. In that way what is fair for one is fair for all, and everybody gets an even break.

Between races yesterday Dade's clever work was one of the leading topics. Several of the best known trainers declared that his work was the best seen on a metropolitan racetrack since Fitzgerald retired. Some of he more enthusiastic supporters of the standing start insisted that Dade easily outclassed Cassidy, while others, of a more conservative turn of mind, declared that Dade at least was Cassidy's equal in ability and that any further advocacy of the walkup system would not meet with favor. The Jockey Club generally acts with good judgment. In declining to abolish the standing start the stewards are entitled to much credit, now that the worth of their ideas has been so tlearly demon-

It is generally believed that young Koerner, who has just begun riding here, will soon rival Miller and Radtke for lightweight honors. The boy, who can ride at about 100 pounds, was easily the best jockey at the recent Buffalc meeting. He was picked up by J. O. Keene and later turned over to W. O. Joplin, a comparatively poor owner, who has a contract with the youngster. Koerner has shown such commendable qualities that yesterday Trainer John W. Rogers made a deal with Joplin by which Koerner will do all the light-weight riding for the Whitney stable for the rest of the season. He sprang into public favor yesterday, by the way, with some clever saddle work. He rode Penaris to victory in he first race, finished second with Bat in the third, took third money with Hot Toddy in the stake event and brought Umbrella home in front in the last race. He is quick at the post, knows how to place his mount and can put up a powerful finish. Frank J. Bryan, who saw him ride all of his races at Buffalo, says that Koerner is a coming star. During the afternoon there was a wrangle in the paddock between Robert Tucker, the trainer of the W. H. Brown stable, and Frisco Gardiner. It seems that Tucker claimed the two-year-old Clements from Gardiner out of the fifth race on Wednesday. When Clements out until 9 o'clock at night. It is said that Tucker accused Gardiner of having used stimulants and demanded the return of his money. The wrangle soon reached the ears of the stewards, who promptly called Tucker Gardiner of using dope and said that a vet

The ring had another hard day. The horses ran so close to form in a majority of the verge of nervous collapse. Robert Tucker, who is getting the money these days in bundles, put over a good thing in the first race in Penarris, who opened at 15 to 1 and was estimated that the ring paid out all of $50,000 on this good thing. The wise money, however, found its way to Newton Bennington's Waterbury, a black colt by Watercress—Oueen Bess, hence a half brother to Old Engget into his stride until it was too late. There was also a good play on Botanist, Dashaway, as he was taken by all of the big players in the clubhouse. Nobody bet on Lancastrian, who Shire Lad were also backed three ways.

The sure thing people went to Halifax in K., who opened at 15, but was no better than 5 at the end of the speculation, was similarly taken. There was also strong support for Victoria B., Elfall and Berwick, all of whom, as it turned out, did good work for the books. Shaw drew a very fine finish with Halifax and got away with it. But if Bat had beaten him there would have been a terrific howl. Shaw was probably overconfident, for he does not take such chances as a rule, but it is safe to eay that he will not give his backers another such scare.

Dolly Spanker Runs Away With Handleau -Halifax Breezes Home With Big Weight-Angier, Penaris and Umbrella Also Score -Four Favorites Win.

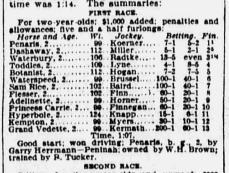

Four favorites won at Brighton Beach yesterday and the ring received another drub-bing. The track was fast and 15,500 persons turned out to cool off in the sea breezes. W. W. Darden's Nannie Hodge, 6 to 5 favorite, won the Jamaica Stakes, for three-year-olds and upward, six furlongs. Radtke waited with her while Shaw made the pace with A. Shields's Diamond, 9 to 5, to the turn, where the Rossington mare moved up and, coming away in the stretch, took the race by a ength in 1:13. Diamond had a length and a alf over Hot Toddy, 8 to 1, third choice.

R. T. Wilson Jr.'s, Dolly Spanker, 6 to 5 favorite, captured the handicap, at a mile and a sixteenth, in a common canter. Miller estrained him while Far West, 20 to 1, set the pace for three-quarters of a mile, after which the son of Kingston went to the front and breezed past the judges five lengths before Far West, with Dishabille, 4 to 1, the top weight, running third two lengths back, peating Bad News, 7 to 1, by three parts of a length. The time was 1:46 2-5.

A. Shields's Halifax, in spite of the fact that he picked up 130 pounds, ran off with the third race, at six furlongs, being a prohibitive favorite at 2 to 5. He had a big lead coming into the stretch, but Shaw coolly drew the finest kind of a finish, Halifax having a head over H. P. Whitney's Bat, 3 to 1, second choice, at the wire, where the winner was timed in 1:13 3-5. Stole, 100 to 1, was three parts of a length behind Bat. J. D. Odom's Angler, 13 to 5 favorite, was the winner of the second race, at a mile and a furlong. He got a neat race, at a mile and a furlong. He got a neat ride from Sewell, and, coming from behind in the last quarter, he won easily by a length in 1:52 2-5. C. R. Ellison's Lancastrian, 15 to 1, showed a form reversal when he beat Red Friar, 5 to 1, by three parts of a length for the place. Miss Rillie ran a good race for her first time out in the East
W. H. Brown's Penaris, backed down to 7 took the first race, for two-year-olds, five and a half furlongs. He won by a length, with T. C. McDowell's Dashaway, 5 to 1, in the place, five lengths before Newton Bennington's Waterbury, 13 to 5 favorite. The time was 1:07.

ton's Waterbury, 13 to 5 layorite. The time was 1:07.
Running in Bill Daly's colors, Umbrella, a Keene castoff, with 15 to 1 about her, proved a big surprise when she came home winner of the last race, for maiden two-year-olds, six furlongs. She had a length and a half over James R. Keene's Yorkist, 6 to 1, with John E. Madden's Bally K., backed down to 8, taking third money with a head over Elfsil, 7 to 2. Sally K. wastrepeatedly shut off. The time was 1:14. The summaries:

New Yorks Rally in Ninth Inning and Defeat Chicagos-Philadelphias Down Detroits, Clevelands Win From Washingtens and St. Louis Beats the Bestons.

The American League race for first place continues neck and neck. The New Yorks beat the Chicagos yesterday, the Philadel-phias outplayed the Detroits and the Clevelands whitewashed the Washingtons. The expected happened in Boston, where the trailers succumbed to the St. Louis team. The Philadelphia-Detroit controversy was a genuine pitchers' battle—two hits apiece. The results: New York, 4; Chicago, 8.

NEW YORK (A. L.), 4; CHICAGO (A. L.), 3. "Look at the smiles!" exclaimed one of the rooters pouring out of the grand stand at American League Park yesterday after the game. The New Yorks had just beaten the White Sox by a ninth inning rally. There the White Sox by a ninth inning rally. There was a rush for Chase, who had batted in three of New York's four runs and whose hit batted in the tring run in the ninth. The boy terror was the centre of a human eddy, carried across the field on the shoulders of as many as could lend shoulders for that purpose. Somebody might have spared an arm to make Conroy's trip to the clubhouse effortless, for Conroy batted in the winning run. He put the finishing touches of the job that Chase did much toward making a success.

effortless, for Conroy batted in the winning run. He put the finishing touches of the job that Chase did much toward making a success.

The New Yorks used base hits in the seventh and ninth innings to reconstruct an edifice that errors previously had come near razing. Two White Sox got around because of errors by Conroy, but Conroy not only batted in the winning run but was one of several who made effulgent fielding plays. It was a vibrant, pulsating game all the way, with Orth steadier than Smith in the box.

The Hilltoppers made Hahn a present of a through trip in the first inning. First Orth passed him to first and when he went down to second on a steal Conroy failed to cover the bag for Kleinow's perfect throw. On the error Hahn reached third. He came in on Isbell's out at first, which was a play without a parallel. The New Yorks were playing in, and Isabell's rap bounced off Williams's shins. The ball caromed up in the air and dropped in the hands of Chase on first base. But for this freakish course it would have been a base hit.

Laporte struck at two bad balls in the third inning and missed a chance to bat in runs. Kleinow's bad base running ruined another chance in the fifth. A couple of smart pickups by Lee Tannehill wrought more havoc. George Davis also played a fine fielding game and came to the front with three hits.

Conroy's wild throw, a sacrifice and Smith's hit gave the Chicagos a run in the fifth. Davis' 4 double and Donohue's hit gave them another. In the sixth. With one out in the seventh Kleinow singled to centre. Orth beat out an infield hit, but O'Neill made a startling one handed catch of Keeler's sock-dolager to right. It was do or die with Chase and Childe Harold did not die. He straightened out one of Smith's choicest curves and changed it into a three bagger. Kleinow and Orth fitted home.

The Chicagos had men on second and third in the eighth with only one out and Davis up. Davis meant well, but his liner was taken in hand by Conroy, who tossed the ball to Laporte and doubled up Jon

BEATEN BY LYON OF CANADA IN POOR SCORING MATCH.

Travis Makes Record of 74—Fine Golfing by Travers, Tiffany and Byers—Crowd at the Links and Surprise Manifested Over Westerner's Unexpected Downfall.

Our rational amateur golf champion for two years and the present Western amateur titleholder. H. Chandler Egan of Chicago, relinquished his title in the second round at the Englewood Golf Club yesterday. There were no records broken in the match that marked his downfall, and George S. Lyon of Toronto, who put him out, was as surprised at the finish as any one on the links. Lyon was 4 up and 7 to piay, yet Egan was 1 up at the seventeenth, and, losing the home at the seventeenth, and, losing the home hole, the Western player only went out for good on the second extra hole. The championship is to pass its third and semi-final rounds to-day; the morning matches being between Johnstone of Boston and Knowles, a New Yorker at Yale, Tiffany, the Hudson River Golf Association champion, and Lyon, West, at Philadelphia boy at Princeton, who was a semi-finalist in 1904, and Byers, en-tered from St. Andrews but a Pittsburger and, which will be the greatest struggle of the tournament, Walter Travis and Jerome

A "gallery" as large as at most champion-ship finals followed the players in morning and afternoon, all spectators and the club haunters coalescing into the host to watch the downfall of Egan on the two extra holes. On the hillside and over the brook the turf was as lively as the park mall on a fine morning, and when the contestants shook hands romen and men climbed straight for the clubhouse, a shady corner and an iced drink. There was plenty to chat about.

Egan, who had 37 in the morning, was a joke going out in the afternoon, and took the third, missed the ball once completely, and still had a half in 5. He was out of bounds on the fourth, Lyon winning in 4, and also on the fifth, which they halved. Thus far Egan's game had backed up what the captious critics have been saying, that on a course with side hazards the Westerner could never wip anything. He took three puts on the next three greens. On the eleventh he missed a short put for a half and I yon, who had been going his game and had 40, was 4 up at the turn. The 522 yard tenth hole Egan won in five and by a violent effort he managed to get another 5 on the 195 yard eleventh hole, one stroke by missing a short put. Lyen took it in 4 and was again 4 up. The champion now played some beautiful golf, and forsaking the halting, groping progress of a blind pede trian he took the next holes in par figures Now all square, they halved the sixteenth in 5, both putting poorly. The seventeenth Egan took in 4 and he faced the home hole in the lead for the first time. It was the critical hole of the match. Both on the green with Egan away, the latter nearly holed for 2 and overrun so far that his try for a 3 was a doubtful chance, especially as Lyon had rimmed in 2. Egan's ball popped in and out, Lyon winning in 3 to 4. On the nineteenth hole Egan rimmed a long put for 3 and on the twentieth he missed a two foot put to halve. "Did Egan err in not playing for a safe 3 on he home green?" asked the crowd afterward. A half would have won for him."

Egan's comment on the match answered the question. "After being up after a bad game rather prided myself on being a good putter. said Egan. "There was a rise before the ball on the home green and over it a slanting green. I tried to hold the hole but the ball skidded past it. I confess I cannot gauge pace on such puzzling greens."

As Egan has been getting 2's on this green right along his chagrin may have sharpened the criticism. The card:

Lyon's best holes were the last three. He a safe eighty-three man which was the score he averaged at the Olympic champion-ship in beating Egan 3 and 2 in thirty-six holes. Lyon began golfing in 1896 in Canada, where he was a noted cricketer. He is 48 years old and the amateur champion of the Alex Shields, owner of the Suburban winner Go Between, was disciplined by the stewards of the Jockey Club yesterday and the license of John Shields, trainer of the horse, was revoked.

their action, which includes the disqualification from racing for thirty days of all the horses owned by Alex Shields, but since the victory of Go Between in the Suburban the horse has been the subject of a sensational inquiry as to whether or not it was a gelding. It was proved on investigation that the horse had not been operated on, though he had run as a gelding for long before he was bought by Shields out of a selling race, Go Between's victory in the Suburban was allowed to stand, but a subsequent protest of F. R. Hitchcock, carried on appeal to the Jockey Club, forced him out of the Commonwealth Handicap run last Saturday at Sheepshead Bay. It was also understood prior to the ruling of the stewards yesterday that on account of the controversy Go Between would not be a starter in the Brighton Handicap, to be run to-morrow. The disqualification will effectually put out Go Between and all Shields's horses from many big races to be run at the present Brighton Beach meeting and the early events at Saratoga, which opens on August 6. He will also have to look for a new trainer, as John Shields while under the ban of the Jockey Club will not be allowed to saddle any horses on tracks controlled by that organization. The meeting at which the Shields resolution was passed was held last night in the offices of the club et the Windsor Arcade.

It reads.
"The trainer's license of John Shields is revoked and all horses the property of Alex
